

OMAHA YOUNGSTER TAKES BIG LEAD IN U. S. OPEN

SHERIFFS STOP MINERS WORK TO PREVENT RIOT

Drastic Action Taken At Harrisburg Lay: Feared Fight

Harrisburg, Ill., June 10—(AP)—Fearing a major riot in the Illinois mine union which already has brought dead fifteen persons, Harrisburg county officers this morning refused to permit 200 U. S. Mine Workers from Williams county to run a gauntlet of 1,500 to 2,000 Progressive minecutter Peabody Mine No. 43.

The action was taken authorities when it soon became evident early this morning that the combined forces of speedcutters from Williams and Peabody county would be far inadequate to handle the great number of pickets patrolling the area for a distance of five miles to the mine.

"We never have seen many guns before," said one of the pickets started out at 6 o'clock this morning, dropping into a sheltered strategic position along the road to the mine.

Sheriff, Choiser of St. county said had the United Mine Workers been permitted to come into the county there would have been wholesale slaughter.

Only Possible Co Sheriff Choiser said had been advised by Governor that it was up to the county authorities to do everything possible to keep down disorders at that action in stopping United Mine Workers on the county 1 was the only way he could prevent rioting.

The Sheriff, said his work from the Governor came through the church of Eldorado, who reported a conference with the Governor last night regarding the trouble. He said Rep. Urich quoted the Governor as saying: "I recognize the Sheriff's right to keep order and recommend that he Sheriff do anything to prevent trouble."

Today's action it was reported, followed a conference the county line this morning between the Saline County Sheriff and Sheriff Jim Frick of Williamson county, which was arranged by Maj. Mac Backen of Salem, military observer.

During the conference the situation was outlined to Williamson county Sheriff and agreed to cooperate with Saline county authorities.

No Demonstration The United Mine Workers were stopped at the county line by deputies and instructed to return home. They made no demonstration.

Maj. MacBacken, asked whether the militia would be sent to Saline county, replied: "I don't think so." He said he believed the county authorities would be able to handle the situation.

This is the second time this year that United Mine Workers have been banned from Saline county. On April 28, Sheriff Choe refused to allow approximately 160 United Mine Workers to enter the county, contending the ban was an emergency measure to prevent bloodshed. Following this the Peabody Coal Company, in compliance with the request of a line county citizens committee, closed the day truce, closing the line during the period in an effort to bring about a settlement between the two union factions.

To Protect Owners During the truce efforts to reach an agreement failed and the mine resumed operations on Wednesday this week with a crew of approximately 200 men, most of them from Williamson county. The mine normally employs from 650 to 800 diggers. Sheriff Choiser issued an ultimatum to the Progressive miners today stating that the picketing of the United Mine Workers in Saline county must stop. The Sheriff also announced that Saline county miners affiliated with the M. W. of A. who wanted to work at Peabody Mine No. 43 would be given protection, but that he did not give protection to miners coming from outside the county to work.

More than 3000 from rubber workers have been reeled to their old jobs due to increased business. Carols were first sung in the thirteenth century.

GEO. SPANGLER REMOVED FROM FRANKLIN GROVE POSTMASTERSHIP TODAY

George H. Fruit Is Named As Acting Postmaster

(Telegraph Special Service) Franklin Grove, June 10—George Spangler, Postmaster of Franklin Grove since 1924 and one of the most popular postal employees in Lee county and in northwest Illinois, was removed from office this morning, with the receipt of notice from the office of the First Assistant Postmaster General at Washington, D. C. Word of the removal came as a shock to Postmaster Spangler and his host of friends in Franklin Grove, and throughout the district. George H. Fruit has been named Acting Postmaster and was being checked into office to assume the Postmastership today, it was reported.

Mr. Spangler, who has been active in American Legion circles in this district, and a prominent Republican, became Acting Postmaster of Franklin Grove in August, 1923. On January 24, 1924, he was appointed to the Postmastership and has served continuously since. His present appointment would have expired February 24, 1933. During his tenure in office he has built up the Franklin Grove postoffice to a place where it now ranks among the best in its class in the district.

Acting Successor His acting successor, George H. Fruit, has for several years conducted a very successful garage business in Franklin Grove and is well known throughout the county. He suffered several injuries in an airplane crash east of Dixon last fall from which he is well on the road to recovery. For the past six years he has served as Deputy Sheriff in China township, to which deputyship he was appointed by ex-Sheriff Ward Miller and reappointed by Sheriff Fred Richardson.

The retiring postmaster, when interviewed this morning had very little to say, other than, that the removal order came without notice and was entirely unexpected, adding, "it marks the appearance of the 'new deal' in Franklin Grove and in the district."

The acting postmaster has served for several terms as Republican judge of election in the first precinct in China township.

Former Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer Helps Form Program For Bank Depositors

Washington, June 9—(AP)—A shouting, shirt-sleeved band of depositors in closed banks, most of them from Philadelphia, jammed a hotel meeting room today and demanded that the government take steps to release their money. They clapped and cheered when Frank Schrenk of Philadelphia, chairman of the so-called National Depositors' Committee, condemned the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and "New York bankers" and their methods.

MATTEN, HOPES OF RECORD GONE, CONTINUES TRIP

Solo-Round-World Aviator Flying Over East Siberia

(BULLETIN) Moscow, June 10—(AP)—Jimmy Matten, pressing on with his round-the-world flight, passed over Rukhlovo, in eastern Siberia, at 9:15 A. M. Moscow time (12:5 A. M. CST). Rukhlovo is east of Chita and 725 miles west of Khabarovsk, the flier's next stop.

Moscow, June 10—(AP)—Flying the last stretches of his voyage across Russia today, Jimmy Matten hoped to make Khabarovsk from where he will hop off for the North American continent. Apparently this afternoon he was flying fast toward his destination. The Weather Bureau here said he would encounter fair to cloudy weather, with some local rain, but no fog, and light variable winds.

Record Hopes Fade The American aviator's hopes for a new round-the-world flight record were apparently shattered today, but he continued his battle with time confident he could establish an outstanding mark for the first solo flight around the globe.

In his bright-hued "Century of Progress" he was racing towards Khabarovsk, Siberia, today whence he plans to take off for the trans-Pacific leg of his journey.

The Texan left Belovo, Siberia, at 1:50 A. M. Moscow time (4:30 P. M. Friday, CST, and passed over Irkutsk, about 50 miles to the east, exactly 40 minutes later.

He was considerably behind the pace set by Harold Gatty and Wiley Post who, in 1931, circled the globe in eight days, 15 hours, and 51 minutes.

Far Behind Post-Gatty Gatty and Post left Irkutsk when they were three days, 22 hours, and 14 minutes out of New York, but Matten flew over Irkutsk six days 13 hours, and nine minutes after leaving New York.

HEAT CONTINUES AS ANOTHER HOT WAVE IS FORMED

The Death Toll Throughout Country Increases Today

(BULLETIN) Chicago, June 10—(AP)—A return of high temperatures over the week end was forecast today by C. A. Donnel, chief of the local Weather Bureau, following a day which saw the mercury drop 20 degrees to a maximum reading of 70. While Chicago was cooled by breezes that blew in from Lake Michigan yesterday other sections of Illinois did not fare so well and at Decatur one death and two pre-natal deaths were reported as the thermometer registered 97 degrees.

A heart attack believed to have been prompted by the heat proved fatal to Philip Houser, 74, Decatur, and two Boy Scouts were overcome while working at a camp.

The mercury in the government thermometer at Shuck & Bates store registered 93 degrees at noon today two degrees higher than it was at the same hour Friday and at the same level it reached at its maximum yesterday. It reached a minimum of 56 during the night.

(By The Associated Press.) The east, still fainting under heat that had felled men and animals, kept its fingers crossed today and waited.

More than 125 people died in a wave of steaming torridity that rolled first over the middle west three days ago, and then over the Atlantic seaboard. Many of the deaths were directly due to the heat, some to related causes.

Pictures of eggs done to a turn on side walks and of youngsters sloshing in hydrant water broke out in front pages again. Heat records fell by the score.

Some Surprises The middle west enjoyed some surprise after heat that killed more than a score in Illinois alone but 100-degree heat returned to the southwest yesterday. In the New York area, thunder showers fell dawn today sent the mercury easing downward. In or near that metropolis six persons died yesterday, more than 40 collapsed, and 20 horses dropped in the streets. Twenty-three persons have died in Philadelphia as a result of the heat.

Sample temperatures for yesterday: Arkansas City, Kas., 104; 100 at Washington, 98 at Philadelphia and 96 at New York. These were all official figures, and in many spots the mercury climbed much higher. In New York, for instance, meteorologists pointed out that the official thermometer is in a shaded shelter atop a skyscraper. They said that it might easily be 125 on the unprotected pavement below.

RECEIVERS FOR MID WEST START RECOVERY SUIT

Chicago, June 10—(AP)—Suits to recover $100,000 on an employees' liability bond because of alleged defalcation of approximately $7,000,000 by Samuel Insull, Sr. and his brother, Martin, was filed today in U. S. District Court on behalf of the receivers of Middle West Utilities Company, $2,600,000 Insull holding concern. The defendant company is the New Amsterdam Casualty Co. of New York City, which executed the bond.

The bill of complaint, filed on behalf of Charles A. McCulloch, equity receiver for Middle West Utilities, charged that Samuel Insull diverted and misappropriated $750,000.

Insull, former chairman of the Board of Directors of the concern, is now in Greece.

The bill charges that the alleged defalcation occurred July 7, 1931 and was not discovered by the receivers until September of the following year, three months after their appointment.

IS GIVEN FREEDOM

Judge William Leech this morning adjourned the December term of the common law and criminal departments of the County Court. Edward Mealey, sentenced several weeks ago on a charge of operating an automobile while in an intoxicated condition, was ordered released from the county jail this morning by Judge Leech after Attorney James J. Ryan of this city had filed a petition setting forth that Mealey was a pauper and unable to pay the fine assessed against him. The June common law and criminal session of the county court will convene Monday morning.

THE LAST WARNING

A long list of complaints registered with the police department of violations of traffic ordinances throughout the city, led to the announcement today that no further warnings will be issued and that a campaign against violators will be started in earnest next week. Speeding, reckless driving and disregard for the few traffic lights within the city are foremost in the list of complaints and the ordinances regulating these and all other violations are to be rigidly enforced beginning Monday morning without further warnings being issued, it was stated.

FINE BAND CONCERT

The Dixon Civic Band gave its first free concert of the summer season last evening before a large crowd at the Assembly park auditorium. The big building accommodated small gatherings but the grounds surrounding were packed with automobiles, where the occupants enjoyed the fine program. Director Russell Mason, and the band were generous with the encore numbers and the program was thoroughly appreciated by the large gathering. Director Mason has requested that the public mail to him their requests for numbers which will be given consideration at the programs during the summer.

HORNER PROGRAM FACES REAL TEST THE COMING WEEK

Governor Will Throw All His Influence Behind Proposals

Springfield, Ill., June 10—(AP)—The full program of the Horner administration will be tested next week in an endeavor to obtain action on its program by a reluctant legislature.

With the end of the session in sight, action must be taken soon if the program, included in which is the sales tax, is not to be lost with the myriads of other bills which will die with adjournment.

The sales tax has aroused the greatest interest, but hardly less controversial are two other measures sponsored by Governor Horner which expand the powers of the Commerce and Tax Commissions.

Less trouble will be experienced with the remaining five measures on the program, although spirited opposition has manifested itself against the minimum wage law for women and minors and the housing bills.

Sales Tax Problematic Whether the administration can obtain passage of the sales tax bill is highly problematic. Opposition of downstate Senators has solidified for several weeks while the administration permitted the bill to lie on second reading in the Senate. Led by Senator James Monroe, Collinsville Democrat, downstate Senators of both parties are actively campaigning against the measure either in its entirety or in part.

The administration counts on Cook county's 19 votes in the Senate. Seven more are needed, however, to get the bill over the senatorial hurdle and into the House. One or two of these will be forthcoming from districts adjacent to Cook county, or in other highly industrialized sections.

Hold Out Bait

Administration leaders are hoping the property tax replacement feature, written into the bill Thursday, will enable a number of Senators from rural districts to vote for the measure.

The replacement feature contemplates that all sales tax revenue, except that of the first six months, which is to go for unemployment relief, shall be used in lieu of the present state impost of 50 cents on the $100 property valuation.

This 50 cent tax is said to average one-sixth of the annual tax bill in strictly rural districts. While the Senate debates sales tax, the House will be the scene of arguments over the administration's bills broadening the powers of the Tax and Commerce Commissions.

SUSPECT INCENDIARISM IN EXPLOSION AND FIRE WHICH CLAIMED 8 LIVES

CONGRESS PUTS ON SPEED; HOPE TO QUIT TODAY

Tremendous Rush In Both Houses To End Session

Washington, June 10—(AP)—Congress plunged into the last-minute jam of foremost legislation today with a determination that showed if adjournment is not reached tonight, it would be only because might and man availed little in face of the difficulties encountered.

President Roosevelt and Democratic House chiefs formulated a final compromise on the controversial veterans' compensation dispute.

It was raced back to the Capitol for floor consideration at a time when the conferees on the industrial control-public works bill agreed to eliminate the Calk amendment removing the exemption from taxation from governmental facilities.

With Senate and House managers closeted to get together on other points at issue between the two branches, the House devoted an hour to an appropriation of almost $3,500,000,000 to finance the construction-employment program and the Muscle Shoals-Tennessee Valley development.

Some Opposition Advocates of the Glass-Steagall bank bill, with fresh counsel as to the President's attitude on the deposit insurance provision, set out to attack the obstacles to final approval of the legislation. They apparently had a fifty-fifty chance of putting their favorite over.

A Senate committee reported the House bill to allow appointment of a non-resident as Governor of Hawaii "without recommendation," and attempts were also in store to get that across in the last minutes.

Close to midnight was the most optimistic hope of getting adjournment. Unrest was apparent in the House, however, and of a nature that seemed to threaten obstructionist tactics to make adjournment impossible.

Dollar May Never Regain Its Parity

London, June 10—(AP)—The opinion that there is no slightest belief in the United States that the dollar would be returned to its gold parity was expressed today in a press interview by Ralph W. Morrison of Texas, a member of the American delegation to the world economic conference.

"If the dollar were returned to its old basis, there would be the greatest debacle in prices ever seen," the American asserted.

"People who are now running from money to securities and properties would run back to money, and the fall in prices would be terrific."

"I do not think there is the slightest belief among the population of the United States that the dollar will ever be returned to par, that is, 23 and a fraction grains gold."

Dixon Woman Was Robbed On Hi-way

Her efforts to economize by hitch hiking from Rockford back to her home here proved expensive for Mrs. Grace Stone yesterday.

New Jersey Celluloid Plant Scene Of Holocaust

North Arlington, N. J., June 10—(AP)—With the toll of the disaster temporarily fixed at eight dead, one missing and at least 75 injured, preliminary investigation into last night's celluloid plant explosion developed evidence police said, pointing to incendiary and industrial warfare as the cause of the holocaust.

John E. Guidetti, Bergen county Prosecutor's detective, announced clues of incendiary had been found in the wrecked plant of the Atlantic Pyroxylin Waste Company, and told of being informed of threats of reprisal made against the operator of the plant by business rivals.

Alex Scheinzeit, the operator of the business, was being held on charges of technical manslaughter.

Seek Two Suspects Guidetti's announcement was followed by orders for the arrest of two Elizabeth, N. J. men as material witnesses of the disaster. The names of the men sought were not disclosed.

Firemen began a renewed search at dawn, fearing more bodies would be found in the burned houses or in the Passaic river, where bathers fled to escape the flames. At least three of the dead are children.

The heat had brought scores of bathers to a small bathing beach near the plant of the Atlantic Pyroxylin Waste Company, dealers in scarp celluloid. As darkness descended, men, women and children lingered, splashing in the water.

Suddenly—an eye witness, John Jackson, said—there was a roar and flames shot upward 200 feet. Burning debris and flaming celluloid fell in showers. Sheets of fire shot outward. Shrieks of people in houses nearby were echoed by the screams of bathers as the flames struck them.

Second Explosion Scorched or severely burned, their bathing suits aflame, many of them plunged toward the river as a second explosion shattered the night. It was the blast of a gasoline tank, spattering fire anew, enveloping a garage and a parked car.

Several women, already badly burned by blazing clothing, were seen to dart into the water. Mrs. Margaret La Tona was seen trying to swim the river. A flaming chunk of wood hit her. She sank and was drowned, police said.

The others on the list of known dead were: Mrs. Joseph Klitch. Her daughter Mildred, 13. George Dale. Mrs. George Dale, his wife. A 2-year-old child, whose last name was Applegar.

Another child and two adults, unidentified. No estimate of the damage was given, but it was believed to be more than $100,000. Police previously had expressed the opinion spontaneous combustion may have caused the explosions.

80-Cent Wheat On Chicago Exchange

Chicago, June 10—(AP)—Eighty cent wheat came back today after an absence of many months on the Board of Trade. An official crop report issued last yesterday, indicated that the winter wheat crop would be the smallest since 1904, only 341,000 bushels, and prices on all deliveries surged upward. The September and December deliveries moved a cent higher, both in new high ground for the year with the latter opening at 80 1/2 cents a bushel.

Steaming will remove marks in dyed velvet and velveteen garments.

GOODMAN PLAYS PHENOMENALLY; 6-STROKE LEAD

Needs Only a 74 On The Final Round For All-Time Record

North Shore Golf Club, Glenview, Ill., June 10—(AP)—Johnny Goodman, continuing his phenomenal dash for the United States Open golf championship, went into the fourth and final round of the tournament this afternoon with a record six stroke lead.

The Omaha amateur ace, with successive rounds of 75, 66 and 70 for a 54 hole total of 211, spread-eagled his rivals and needed only a 74 on his last round to set a new all time record score.

Ralph Guldahl, lanky young St. Louis professional, duplicated Goodman's third round score of 70, two under par, and shot into second place with a total of 217.

Craig Wood of Deal, N. J. was third with 218. Tommy Armour of Chicago, failing again to regain his earlier record touch, took a 76 on his third round and went back to fourth place with 219.

Goodman, eight under par for two successive rounds, was five under the 34 holes. With the tie seemingly in his grasp, the youngster needed only a 74 to beat the all-time scoring record for the American Open golf championship. Chick Evans set the mark at 288 in 1916 and Gene Sarazen equalled it last year.

Gets Eagle, Birdie Starting his fourth round with a six stroke lead Goodman shot an eagle and a birdie in succession on the second and third holes to gallop further into the lead.

Followed by a tremendous gallery, he grinned broadly as he started the decisive round. With 211 for 54 holes, and his game working nicely, he was all set for victory should it come his way.

He started the first hole of his fourth round with a par 4. He was on the green, 25 feet from the pin, with a nice drive and No. 5 iron, and took two putts.

Crowd Goes Wild With another dazzling gesture to the field he was putting completely to rout, Goodman shot an eagle 3 on the 489 second hole. His drive measured 280 yards and he used a No. 5 iron to knock the ball fully to the green, 8 feet from the cup. The crowd went wild as he holed the downhill putt.

Cold as ice water, Johnny pumped a No. 3 iron shot hole high, 15 feet away, on the 167 yard third. He dropped this putt, too, with another curling push, for a birdie, and the subsequent outburst was deafening. The Nebraska's grin spread.

He was keeping his amazing touch for a third successive round of almost unbelievably marvelous golf. Johnny finally slowed up and took a 5 on the fourth, one over par. He split the fairway with his drive but pushed his second to the shoulder of a trap, pitched six feet past the cup and missed the putt by inches.

Goodman held his own on the 353 yard fifth, taking a steady par four. His drive was to deep rough but he hit an amazing iron 15 feet from the pin. He chopped his approach putt but not the remaining five-footer for a par.

The youngster slowed up some more on the par four sixth, trapping his second shot, clearing the green with his third and getting on finally 30 feet from the pin. He putted twice for a six.

He slipped another stroke on the par five seventh, 536 yards and took a six, slipping one stroke over par for the first time during the round. He had lost four strokes on the past four holes. He was in rough with his drive, got out short, went over the green with his approach, chipped back well but missed a ten foot putt.

Goodman seemed to tighten up as he waited for marshals to regain control of the gallery at each hole. Off the eighth, a 226 yarder, Goodman put a spoon into a left trap. He blasted out within 15 feet of the cup and took two putts for a 4, going two over par.

Walter Hagen, although 15 strokes behind Goodman at the start of the last round, went out with a sizzling 32, four strokes better than par.

What do you hold?
Buttercups, buttercups,
Minting your gold?

How do your rootlets
Pile from the mire
Sunken sunbeams
To fountains of fire?

What bosoms have crumbled
To lift you there,
Your golden Amens
To Beauty's prayer?

Two Outings Finish Girl Scout Yr.

On Monday afternoon the girls hiked to the Scout cottage at Assembly Park. After the camp fire songs were sung. There being a full moon, the lawn in front of the log cabin was a perfect setting for game. Charades were the most popular and were enjoyed until a late hour when the girls departed for their homes.

The older girls of the Troop had in overnight hike Thursday. On arriving at the cottage the girls drew places for their sleeping and arranged their blanket Indian style. Duties were distributed and the girls performed their tasks in able manner.

After a hearty supper and some roaming around the park the girls wanted characters.

Taps and lights out retired the girls but there were many a whisper that night.

Up and early the girls hiked to the academy grounds and in squads prepared their bacon, eggs and pancakes on tin can stoves. Fruit and milk balanced the breakfast.

Back to the cottage the girls cleaned and packed. They went home expressing that Scouting is a great privilege.

Rev. Garner is active in young people's work. The rally will begin at 6 P. M., with a social and recreational period, followed by a picnic supper at 6:30. The Galilean service will start at 7:30. All young people of the county are invited to attend this unusual and inspirational meeting.

Black and Stripes for Beach Sprites

(From STERN BROTHERS, New York)

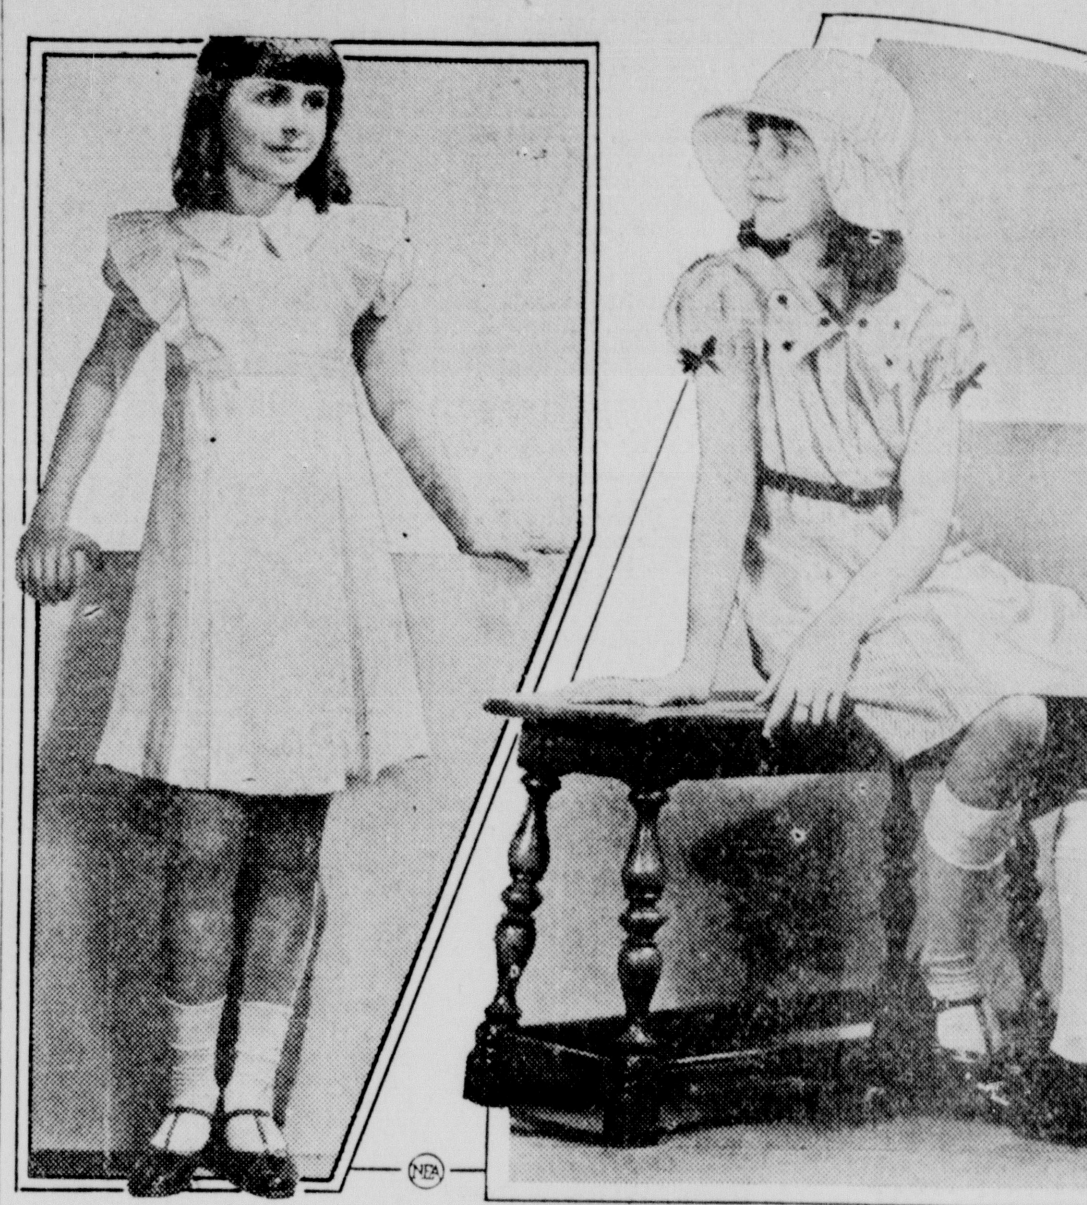

By JOAN SAVOY
NEA Service Writer

Pinafore or pajamas—you can take your pick for those days when you go down to the sea in chic. Most of the snappiest beach things come in washable materials this season. Cottons, in new and alluring disguises; linen in non-crushable form. The cottons may be as gay as your little hearts desire. The linens are positively bewitching, they are so smart and deadly black!

For the girl who likes her skirts to hide behind, here is a new version of the beach dress that is a veritable pinafore. It just wraps around you and ties. It is made of handsome striped terry cloth, in the gayest red and white.

There's a low back to it, of course

For Miss America's Summer Wardrobe

(From BONWIT TELLER, New York)

Ginghams, calicoes, shirting dresses for week days and a silk dress-up dress for Sundays and parties. That's the summer wardrobe for Young Miss America. Maize silk crepe, cut high-waisted in English manner, and having a wide-shouldered effect just like Mother's, is the party dress at the left. Fine pleated and tiny puffed sleeves make the wide-shoulders. The little buttoned-down collar and the buttoned-shut belt add that "tailored touch" that the best children's clothes have. Cotton striped shirting, in a nice blue and white, makes the practical dress for "Monday-to-Saturday" wear at the right. The white collar has hand-work touches, and there are little bows of black at the sides of the short sleeves and a black belt. The hat is white linen, pleated through the crown.

Charivari for Mr. And Mrs. R. Glessner

Mr. and Mrs. Reon Glessner, South Dixon's newest newly-weds, were given the usual charivari and shower Thursday night at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Brechon. A large crowd, including friends and relatives from Palmyra township, gathered to extend their good wishes to Reon and Hazel.

The charivari, with their musical tinpans and horns circled the house several times, before the young couple they were honoring in this good old-fashioned way were persuaded to come outside and welcome their guests. They then explained their plans for the future: They will at present remain at the Brechon home, as it is close to the Charles Duis place which Reon is farming. They told of their wedding trip to Reon's home near Bosobel, Wis. where friends and relatives gave them a hearty welcome and a wonderful shower. Reon and Hazel were married on

Supreme Worthy High Priestess Guest Of Shrine

Last evening Corinthian Shrine of the White Shrine of Jerusalem was greatly honored by the official visit of sojourner Genevieve Howe Steinek, Supreme Worthy High Priestess of United States and Canada.

The Masonic Temple was beautifully and appropriately decorated for the occasion. The tables in the banquet hall were arranged in the form of a cross and in the intersection of the cross a large orchid colored ship, surrounded by yellow and white lilies, gave a very pleasing effect. Spring flowers decorated each table, and the napkins in pastel shades were folded at each place to resemble water lilies.

The outer edge of the room was covered with blossoms and bows, the orchestra shell was transformed into a bower of flowers.

At 6:30 o'clock, although the weather was extremely warm, about one hundred and twenty-five members and guests preceded by the Supreme Worthy High Priestess, escorted by Mrs. Lloyd Lewis, and Mr. Lloyd Lewis, Worthy High Priestess, and Watchman of the Shepherds of Corinthian Shrine, entered the banquet hall where a very delicious dinner was served.

Following the dinner, the visitors retired to the Grand Lodge Hall where the White Shrine Patrol team gave an exhibition of their drill, after which the ceremonial was held, and a class of candidates were initiated in a very creditable manner.

Before the ceremony the Supreme Worthy High Priestess was escorted and introduced. The eleven girls who acted as her escorts, and who presented a lovely appearance, carried spring flowers in pastel shades, forming an arch with them, as she approached the East.

The escorts were Frances Schrock, Esther Young, Mamie Segner, Mazie Hoberg, Olive Read, Rachael Kennedy, Lou Murphy, Helen Edwards, Mildred Beier, Lucile Trautman and Frances Patrick. These same girls served as the Queen's attendants, Lucile Trautman acting as Flower Girl.

Special music during the ceremony was beautifully rendered by Mrs. Katherine Ballou, Mrs. Lee Read, Mrs. C. C. Rorick and Willard Humphrey from Morrison.

A large number of visiting worthy High Priestesses and 22 Past Worthy High Priestesses and Watchmen of the Shepherds were escorted.

After the impressive ceremony, the Supreme Worthy High Priestess in a most gracious manner complimented the officers on the way the work had been exemplified, and extended a most cordial invitation to the Patrol Team to attend the Supreme Chapter Meeting of the White Shrine of Jerusalem to be held in Chicago next May, this being only the second invitation she had issued so far to a drill team to participate at that time. The first invitation issued had been to a team in Toronto, Canada. She also urged and extended to every member an invitation to attend this meeting and thanked the Worthy High Priestess, Watchmen of the Shepherds and Shrine member for a most pleasant evening.

Mrs. Lewis thanked Mrs. Steinek in behalf of the Corinthian Shrine for her inspiring words and told her how much her visit was enjoyed, as it had been ten years since a visit had been made by a Supreme Worthy High Priestess. Mrs. Lewis in her pleasing way thanked all those who had helped to make this one of the most delightful evenings in the Shrine's history.

Visitors from Peru, LaSalle, Ottawa, Morrison, Rockford and Sterling were present.

WHERE HISTORIANS FAIL TO PLAY FAIR

A series of crumbling clay tablets, which were put into the Persian archives at Persepolis 24 centuries ago, and which were discovered there recently by Dr. James Henry Breasted, Chicago University's famous archaeologist, may add a brand-new chapter to one of the most interesting parts of ancient history.

These tablets, as far as they have been deciphered, seem to give the Persian version of the famous invasion of Greece which came to disaster in the battles of Marathon and Salamis.

We know all about those battles already, of course—from the Greek side. Dr. Breasted hopes now, however, to get the Persians' side of it too; to look at the obverse face of one of the most famous military campaigns in all history.

Doing this may give us a new kind of history; and, in the end, we may get an entirely new idea of that momentous struggle on the shores of the Aegean 2400 years ago. History, which pretends to be impartial, is pretty one-sided. Every great struggle, like this between the Greeks and the Persians, gets described by the victors. The losers not only lose the war, but they lose their chance to present their case to posterity.

We are all taught in school that it was a very fine thing for the race in general that the Greeks beat the Persians. Why? Well, chiefly because it was the Greeks who wrote that chapter in world history. The Persians never got a chance to tell their side of it. A few years hence, when the cuneiform inscriptions on these ancient tablets have been deciphered, we may have a different slant on things.

It is a pity that similar discoveries cannot be made for other great contests. It would be enlightening, for instance, to have a Carthaginian description of the great Punic wars; to read of Cortez's conquest of Mexico in the writings of an Aztec historian; to get a contemporary Indian rajah's account of Britain's conquest of India.

History is full of "might have beens." Usually we take it for granted that things happened for the best. Looking at the losers' story might, in more instances than one, give us reason to adopt a new attitude.

TOMATOES AND PATRIOTISM

One of the queerest cases yet tackled would seem to be that of the labor agitator at Monticello, N. Y., who has been accused of defiling the American flag.

This agitator was addressing a May Day meeting, suitably be-flagged and decorated, when a group of ex-service men decided to call a halt to things. They showered the speaker with ancient eggs, decayed tomatoes and such like; and the charge against him says that he used an American flag to wipe from his face the stray bits of squashed tomatoes and trickling eggs which took lodgment there.

His defenders retort that he wiped his face with a handkerchief, as a man should, and that the flag was defiled by the flying missiles themselves. But even if the charge against him be true, it is a little hard to get very indignant about it. A man who gets an uncooked tomato omelet in the face is going to wipe it off in a hurry, and he is likely to use the first thing that he can lay his hands on. One feels that this man wouldn't have been arrested if his accusers had had a sense of humor.

THE SCHOOLBOY'S DILEMMA

Whatever else it did, the law presidential election at least created one more problem for the school boys of future years. It created one more "pair" of presidents for them to worry over.

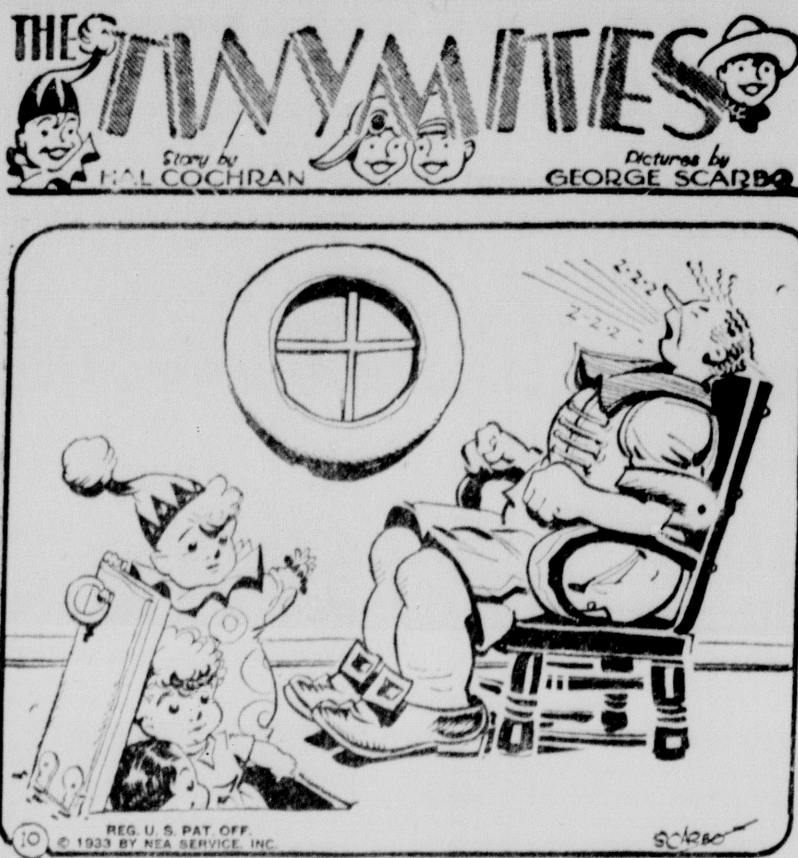

So far there have been two of these pairs. There have been two presidents named Adams, and two presidents named Harrison—and a fine time school boys have had trying to remember which, in each pair, was which; whether it was John Adams who was John Quincy Adams' father, or vice versa, and whether it was William Henry Harrison or Benjamin Harrison who was "Old Tippecanoe."

A couple of decades hence school boys will be trying to remember which Roosevelt was which. In 1952, very likely, school examination papers will record that Franklin Roosevelt fought in the Spanish War and that the famous Teddy defeated President Hoover in the 1932 presidential race.

We take altogether too many young people of mediocre and depressing personalities, bury them for a few years in a library, knight them Ph. D. and turn them loose on oncoming generations as libels on the fair name of education.—Willis J. Ballinger, former Smith College economics professor.

Women must learn to be independent. In the past they have been dependent on men, but the day of gold-digging is over.—Dr. Stuart A. Curtis, educational consultant of Detroit public schools.

We have never solicited funds because we were "dry," and we have never refused to accept contributions because the donor was "wet."—Commander Evangeline Booth, Salvation Army.

Of course the two girls were surprised when, suddenly, they realized that Duncy now was with them. "Where'd you come from?" Dotty cried.

"Why, I was here the other day," said Duncy, "but you ran away. The giant knows I'm here and so I had to try to hide."

"Into that oven, there, I went. Oh my, the long hours I have spent! I guess I still would be there if you hadn't lit a fire."

"You girls both realize, no doubt, just what it was that drove me out. I would have been burned up if you had turned the blaze much higher."

Then Duncy said, "What can we do? Of course we're glad to be with you, but what if Mr. Giant sees us? He'll be raving mad."

"An eagle brought us here and we have been as busy as could be. The giant's made us work all day and no rest have we had."

"Well, girls, I came to rescue you."

You see the eagle brought me, too. But we are wasting time, now. Very quiet we must keep.

"I'll look around. Gee, I would love to find a place to sneak out of. At present we are safe because the giant's sound sleep."

"Well wait right here," said Dotty. "You go on and see what you can do. We've tried all of the windows, but you might try them once more."

As Duncy slowly walked around, he shortly whispered, "I have found a great big hidden exit. It's a trapdoor in the floor."

The giant snored on, right nearby. "Come on," said Duncy, "we will try to get the big door open. Gee, to me this is a lark."

And then he pulled hard on the door. It opened wide. "Now, what's in there?" said Dotty, "what's climbing down to a place that was real dark."

AL SIMMONS AND MARTIN REGAIN BATTING LEADS

Have Displaced Last Saturday's Leaders In Major Leagues

New York, June 10.—(AP)—Comebacks featured the batting races in both major leagues during the past week as Al Simmons climbed back to the top of the American League and Pepper Martin regained the National League lead.

Simmons fattened his average by ten points in seven days, and Martin picked up 13 points in jumping from fifth place in the elder circuit to the top.

Johnny Frederick of Brooklyn, former National League leader, made only three hits during the week as he went down 32 points to the fifth notch, while Johnny Hodapp's average fell 21 points and sent him down to fourth in the American League.

Randy Moore of the Boston Braves, lifted his mark from .321 to .348 and took second place in the national, and Evar Swanson of the Chicago White Sox, gained 21 points in the course of rising from sixth place to third in the American.

Chuck Klein of the Phillies continued to hold the place of leading all-around lugger with totals of 68 hits, 17 doubles, ten homers and 43 runs which were good for first place in the National League in everything but hits, where he was one behind his teammate, C. Phillips. The American League's home run clouters staged a spurge that ended with Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig of the Yankees and Jimmie Foxx of the Athletics tied for the lead with 12 apiece.

ON PLAYING JOCKEYS

The annual story about the jockey dominating a day's race card has been printed early this year. The jockey is Jack Westrope, a 16-year-old lad from Montana, who booted five home in an afternoon at Homewood.

The record in this regard is held by Albert Adams. Three years ago during the fall meeting at Marlboro, Mr. Adams rode nine straight winners. He started by winning the last two races on Sept. 10, swept the card of six heats on the following day and rode the winner of the first race Sept. 12.

If you had pyramided on Adams the way the boys were building up jack in the stock market some years ago, your working days would be over, and your family for the next couple of generations would be in the bucks.

WHEN TO STOP?

Two qualifications would have been necessary to play your way with a bookie, because you couldn't have got a dime at the tracks with so much to bet. And you had to stop at nine winners—not ten—if you wanted to ride home.

Many people play the jockeys with success, or at least as much success as others play the horses. Suppose you had played the gentleman jockey, Pete Bostwick, in the steeplechases he rode during 1931. That year Pete had 57 mounts, and 20 of them were winners. Ten placed and seven showed.

If you had lost your first two or three wagers on Bostwick and doubled up, following this same procedure whenever he lost a race, you might be sailing your yacht in the blue Mediterranean at this moment, with vassals and serfs at your side.

HALF A MILLION

Suppose you had started playing jockeys in 1923 and chose Earl Sande as the subject. That year Sande won with 122 of his 430 mounts, a little better than none out of four. His money winnings of that year never have been topped by another jockey, the neat total being $569,394. If you had strung along with the Earl, and doubled after he had lost, you instead of J. P. Morgan, might have been the man Washington wanted to see.

AN OLD HEAD

Pete Walls, who has been enjoying a ride now and then on the back of the good Mr. Khayyam, is better than a green hand with the hawkes.

Ten years ago he came very close to being the leading jockey of the season. The reason he didn't was Ivan Parke. That year Walls batted in 149 winners, riding for Commander J. K. L. Ross and other stables. But Parke was under the wire with 173 firsts.

JACK DEMPSEY'S PLANS CALL FOR A SHARKEY BOUT

Wants Sailor To Beat Carnera And Then Tackle Baer

New York, June 10.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey will lead the cheering for a bitter rival of his own fighting days when Jack Sharkey defends the heavyweight championship here June 29.

The old Manassa Mauler has nothing against Carnera but he'd much prefer to see Sharkey win and thus open the way for Dempsey to capitalize to the fullest extent on the popularity Max Baer achieved through his sensational knockout of Max Schmeling last Thursday night.

With the Carnera match, Sharkey's contract with Madison Square Garden will expire and the Boston sailor will be free to do business with any promoter he likes. Dempsey is certain that he can convince Sharkey that a match with Baer, either in September or next year, will outdraw any other that could be made. Sharkey is known to be willing to listen, at least, to what Dempsey has to offer.

Baer definitely is aligned in the old champion's camp. "He's my pal," the big Californian says. "I will fight for Jack any time, anywhere. He just has to say when."

WHAT PRICE CHAMPION?

This seems to be about as good a time as any to bring up the fact that some of our best jockeys never attain the dignity of champions. Earl Sande heads all in stakes and purses won, but there never was a year in which he beat the other boy in the number of winners scored. Odds are one of his worst years from the money standpoint was 1917, when he won 158 races and that was more than he brought under the wire in any other year.

The highest paid jockey this year will not be Pete Walls, even though the horse he rides may become the three-year-old champion. Jockey Robert Jones will lead all hands in income tax payments.

Back in February, Jones signed with Willis Sharpe Kilmer for $12,000 for the year, plus 10 per cent of all the money won by the horses he rides. If this turns out to be an average year for Kilmer, the stable should win $200,000, which would boost the Jones income to $32,000—pretty good money even if it does develop that it is inflated.

Riding for other owners—and such jockeys as Jones usually do this—the boy should pick up from $10,000 to $15,000 more. It looks like a $45,000 year for this young man.

MAGNATE MCATEE

For several years Pony McAtee, under contract to Marshall Field and Robert L. Gerry, was the highest paid boy in the country. His contract salary was $15,000, plus 10 per cent of winnings. During a couple of years his income is said to have been around $60,000. In one of the years, he came very close to $100,000.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Speaking of jockeys, Fred Archer for the last 13 years of his life was regarded as champion jockey of the world. . . he started riding in 1868 when 11 years old, bringing home his first winner in a steeplechase at that age. . . when he was 13 years old he weighed 70 pounds. . . when he died in 1886, he weighed around 120. . . battling with his weight, he subsisted mostly on oysters. . . contracted typhoid fever. . . and while in a delirium shot himself to death.

Jockey Hank Mills is about the only one we can think of now who ever looked down Jack Sharkey. . . a year or so ago Sharkey visited the Hialeah Park track at Miami. . . where the cocksure little Mills was kicking home winners like Caridee to register goals after touchdowns. . . Young Mills very casually grabbed the paw of the Boston sailor. . . and his attitude let it be known unmistakably that surely this was a real moment in the life of Jack Sharkey. . . Mills' contempt for the older boys and other breezy qualities of character may make it hard for him to get along when the going gets tougher.

WOLGAST FACES SUSPENSION FOR QUITTING FIGHT

N. York Champion of Featherweights May Not Fight Again

Detroit, June 10.—(AP)—Midwest Wolgast, New York, recognized in some states as world's featherweight champion, today faced a threat of suspension for life in all states of the National Boxing Association, for walking out in the sixth round of his bout here last night with Britt Gorman, of Minneapolis.

Gorman was awarded a technical knockout in the sixth of a scheduled 10 round bout.

James M. (Bingo) Brown, president of the N. B. A., at the ring-side last night when Wolgast left the ring, after complaining that Gorman had resorted to "butting" tactics, said he would order Wolgast's suspension for life in Michigan at once. Other member states of the N. B. A. automatically would bar the Midget under such circumstances.

Wolgast claimed that a deep cut over his right eye had been opened by Gorman's head of shoulder and not his glove, and when Referee McClelland ordered him to continue fighting, Wolgast shook his head and climbed from the ring.

FIRST OUTDOOR BOXING SHOW IS SET FOR MAPLES

Dixon Athletic Club's Plans For Summer Are In Making

The Dixon Athletic Club is making elaborate plans for a very active season of boxing for fans of Dixon and vicinity, the first show being booked for Thursday evening, June 22. It is the plan to hold shows at the Maples arena weekly throughout the summer months.

Extensive improvements are now under way to provide a comfortable location for the bouts, this summer. Workmen started yesterday building an elevated bleachers section which is expected to seat 300 spectators. The arena will be enclosed with metal sign boards and will be much larger than the temporary enclosure used last summer. The seating capacity is to be greatly increased and will be made as comfortable as possible for the fans.

Officers of the association are arranging a fine program which will bring together several leading amateur boxers of Peoria and Rock Island for the opening show, which will consist of six bouts.

Now YOU CAN KEEP "BRIDGE HANDS"

Lovely in the Kitchen, Too!

SO MANY women who do their own work feel sensitive about their hands. Especially when they're red or chapped, hands seem unusually conspicuous. And yet it's so simple to keep lovely hands either at the bridge table or in the kitchen!

JUST MAKE this simple test and see for yourself why women everywhere are so enthusiastic about Kemozone Hand Cream.

BEFORE YOU start your household work, whether it's doing the dishes or "dusting up," press about half an inch of this dainty greaseless cream into the palm of each hand, then rub both hands together until the cream is thoroughly absorbed. Not only will your hands be thoroughly protected from the harsh and drying action of soaps, but softness and loveliness of your skin texture will actually improve.

AND IT really costs so little to keep your hands so that you can always be proud of them. A twenty-five cent tube will last nearly two months. Many women keep a tube on the kitchen sink, and one in the bathroom as well.

Keep it on the kitchen sink

INVESTIGATION
IN ADJOURNMENT

Senators To Resume Inquiries Sometime
Next Fall

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—The Senate's investigation of J. P. Morgan & Company is over, for the present at least, but developing today was a train of consequences which will seriously affect the country's income tax payers.

Publicity for all tax returns was voted by the Senate last night in an amendment to the industrial control bill, and there was every indication that this removal of secrecy would be made law.

A drive to prevent loss-shifting stock sales designed to "evade or reduce" income tax payments, was announced by Guy T. Helvering, the new Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Both were direct results of the Morgan inquiry's disclosures, and of previous banking committee investigation results. The Morgan partners paid no income tax in 1931 and 1932, and hardly any in 1930 because of losses established from shrinkage of security values. Charles E. Mitchell, former Chairman of the National City Bank, is on trial now on a tax evasion charge resulting from previous senatorial investigations.

Investigate Returns
Senator LaFollette (R-Wis.) in moving the adoption of the publicity amendment had asked: "Does anyone suppose that these evasions which have been revealed would ever have taken place if the tax payer had known as he sat down to make out his return that it is to become a matter of public record?"

Helvering said the senatorial investigations had caused many people to submit additional tax returns and that his agents were going over with extreme care all returns showing loss-establishing transactions.

Takes Parting Shot
The investigators, who closed the remarkable hearings last night and released J. P. Morgan, his partners and other important men from the subpoenas which have held them here the better part of three weeks, intended to decide today on a program for getting into operations of Kuhn, Loeb & Company, and Dillon, Read & Company, big private bankers, like the Morgan firm, who are due for investigation next.

These inquiries probably will be taken up in the fall, due to the imminent adjournment of Congress. In the fall also there may be a sequel to the Morgan inquiry and the committee will go into the question of investment trusts and stock exchange operations.
